

Home Birth Friendly Pediatricians/Family Practice Physicians

While you are pregnant is the right time to interview and choose a doctor for your new baby. Even if you don't plan on taking your baby for regular visits, having a doctor to call upon for medical emergencies is extremely helpful to most parents. The following physicians are known to us as "friendly" towards home birth families. Some have hospital privileges and some do not. This is something you might want to discuss with whomever you choose. Insurance coverage, vaccine policies, and on-call availability is also something that varies among providers.
